MUSIKCENTRUM SWEDEN

Landæus Trio

"It is supreme music, that testifies both dedication and breadth of expression, and is brilliantly performed...makes one think just as much of Monk and an early Keith Jarrett as gospel and dub."

ABOUT LANDÆUS TRIO

Another piano trio? Forget it, this is actually a band. A tightly knit unit that takes every opportunity to celebrate life and imagination, rather than getting stuck in intellectual concepts. A live performance with Landæus Trio is typically fun and unpretentious, yet in the music there is a sophistication and brutal honesty at the core. While there is a lot of stylistic variation, there is never any question that these musicians have a deeply rooted understanding of the jazz idiom. The band performs mostly originals from the songbook of Mathias Landæus, who has written over 200 tunes.

ABOUT THE MEMBERS

Notoriously playful pianist Mathias Landæus has released 17 albums as a leader. His lyrical touch and original style have earned him a reputation as one of the most exciting jazz pianists in Sweden. Some of the artists he has recently worked with include Oliver Lake, Mark Dresser, Tim Hagans, Susana Santos Silva, Palle Danielsson, Fredrik Ljungkvist, Magnus Broo, Mariam Wallentin, Lina Nyberg, Kresten Osgood, Jonas Kullhammar and Gilbert Holmström.

World-touring bassist Johnny Aman has been with the trio since 2011. He also plays regularly with Jerry Bergonzi and George Garzone and has performed with musicians like Gilad Hekselman, Billy Hart, Dave Liebman, Jason Marsalis, Tim Hagans, Marcus Strickland, Tony Malaby, Phil Grenadier, John Ellis, and the list goes on...

Rising-star drummer Cornelia Nilsson joined the trio in 2015. She has performed with musicians like Aaron Parks, Jakob Bro, Maria Faust, Gabor Bolla, George Garzone, and many others. She was the drummer of choice when Kenny Barron Trio needed a substitute for a concert in Madrid earlier this year.

Landæus Trio has tour support from the Swedish Arts Council.
